Dear Friend,

Did you see the show on the Discovery Channel about Blackbird, the fastest plane ever built? It flew so fast, engineers had to invent a new metal to keep it from melting. Know what it was? Titanium, the same metal now used to help you burn up golf courses.

To me, the show was especially interesting because this summer we're featuring a titanium "black bird" of our own—the new Hawk Eye woods from Callaway. I wish I could be with you when you hit your first shot with a Hawk Eye and see that ball soaring long and straight down the fairway.

Actually, I can't wait for you to see all of the hand-picked, brand-name clubs and accessories we've selected for this 40-page Summer Catalog to improve your game and increase your golfing pleasure. Speaking of pleasure, that's the best word I can think of to describe a Uinta Golf buying experience. The moment one of our friendly, golf-smart staffers answers your call, you'll enter the world of golf and escape the day to day. After all, we love the game as much as you do.

Thanks for giving us a shot,

Sean Smith, President

P.S. Our prices are so low, some manufacturers won't even let us publish them!

TIP: Some ideas if your drives are pulling to the left. We recommend the following for tee shots that consistently go left of your target: (1) try a stiffer shaft; (2) check to see if the lie angle is too upright; (3) ask a pro to examine your driver's length; and (4) try more swingweight.

The Biggest Big Bertha "just can't miss"

Want to stand on the tee and know you're going to drill those dimples exactly where you want them? This titanium driver has the largest head in the family and longest shaft, but weighs in lower than all the rest so you generate more clubhead speed. Lofts: 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

This Callaway has eyes like a hawk—for fairways

Introducing the Great Big Bertha Hawk Eye Titanium woods from Callaway. Each is a titanium-tungsten-steel beast that produces long, high-arching flights with an incredibly low center of gravity. A unique, built-in draw bias technology decreases the possibility of slicing and boosts your chances of hitting majestic right-to-left draws. Lofts: 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 2, 3+, 3, 4+, 4, 5, 7 and 9.

Ind. irons: 1-SW		$72.99

Mizuno—getting a big head can be good

Mizuno T-Zoid Pro forged irons feature a 10 percent larger head than standard forged irons. Made of double-forged carbon steel with a T-Zoid Power Bar behind the sweet spot for wonderful control. Modified V-grooves in Mizuno T-Zoid True irons produce ideal ball spin and offset delivers greater bore trajectory which results in more precision. And feel the kinder, gentler Sensi-Core shafts! The Mizuno T-Zoid Comp EZ offers a larger head and super-sized sweet spot to ensure more solid hits. Irons also feature what Mizuno calls ACTIVE KICK technology, a high-energy transfer at contact. Men's/Ladies' RH.

Ind. irons: 1-PW, AW, SW, LW	$79.99-$103.99

TIP: A debate on cast or forged?

Recently, Golf Digest tested cast and forged irons. Forged irons are pounded into final shape under extreme heat from a block of metal. The results showed that the difference in performance was only personal and not general. Golf Digest concluded that clubs of similar design and weighting should perform equally under identical circumstances, whether they are cast or forged. The choice and feel is really up to you.
